The Pit

0 Harvard Square

"The Pit" is the nickname given to the area where the Harvard Red Line subway lets out. It is where street artists drum on buckets, play the saxophone, or make spray paint art. The heart and center of the Harvard Square, the Pit has its own ecosystem. Every walk of life enters and exits the Square through the Pit. There is a large and varied community of students, artists, businessmen and panhandlers. It teems with life.

The defining structure is Out of Town News, the famous newspaper stand started in 1955 by Sheldon Cohen. Everyone knew Sheldon. His voice booming over Harvard Square for most of the second half of the 20th century earned him the nickname "the unofficial mayor of Cambridge." Built in 1928, this historic kiosk and landmark was originally used as the main headhouse (entrance building) for the recently opened Harvard Square subway station. After the station closed in 1981 for renovations, the kiosk was moved slightly and renovated. The Out of Town News newsstand, which opened in 1955, has occupied the kiosk since 1984.
